All people want to be treated with respect in old age. This is especially true at an advanced age. It is not always possible for family members to take full care of their relatives and their needs. Often due to professional reasons, you cannot provide 24-hour self-care. There are specialists or service providers for cases that provide a supervisor. The primary goal is to leave the person to care in their familiar surroundings. As long as no inconsistent care is necessary, this version should be preferred in the interest of the person concerned. Everyone knows that feeling when you are not in your familiar surroundings. And the older you are, the more difficult it is to establish and maintain new social contacts. 24-hour support provides the right solution.
